PROJECT INFORMATION

All planned development and conditional use permit applications must provide complete responses to the following questions:

1. Describe why the proposed use and the proposed site are appropriate for the project and are authorized by the Zoning Ordinance.

The proposed use redevelops a vacant site and provides affordable housing in an existing residential context. The intent of the RPD zone is to provide land to be developed for residential use.

2. Why is the proposed development necessary and desirable for the development of the community? Does the proposed project comply with the objectives of the various elements of the General Plan? Is the project detrimental to existing or proposed uses within the vicinity of the subject proposal?

The project would provide high quality affordable housing in a manner appropriate to the surrounding neighborhood. The project is in compliance with relevant objectives in the various General Plan elements, including the Land Use Element and Housing Element.

3. Describe the adequacy of the size and shape of the subject site to accommodate the required setbacks, walls, fences, landscaping and other treatment necessary to ensure the proper development and continued maintenance of the proposed project.

The proposed site design is in conformance with the intent and requirements of the RPD zone and is consistent with the surrounding residential uses in the neighborhood.

4. Are the adjacent streets and highways properly designed and improved to carry the type and quantity of traffic projected to be generated from the proposed project?

The site can be accessed from both Barry Street and Lewis Road. No impacts to traffic are anticipated.

5. In the review of the proposed project, conditions of approval may be generated to ensure the proper compatibility of the project with the surrounding developments and to provide for the health, safety and general welfare of the public. What conditions or modifications might be beneficial to improve the project and to ensure its compatibility with the surrounding areas?

No special project-related conditions are anticipated to be necessary.

ADVISORY

All applications requesting approval of five or more residential dwelling units are subject to the residential development control ordinance in Camarillo Municipal Code (CMC) Title 20. See CMC Chapter 20.01 for exceptions. No grading or building permit for any nonexempt project may be issued unless a development allotment for such project has first been granted by the City Council. Development allotment applications must be submitted on the form prepared by the Community Development Department. All Development Allotment applications must be filed from August 1 through December 31 of each calendar year for consideration of development allotments by the City Council the following year. Development allotments awarded by the City Council will allow for construction of units the year following award of the allotments. For example, a Development Allotment application received on August 1, 2019, would be considered by the City Council for development allotments in 2020; and if awarded allotments, may be issued a building permit no earlier than January 1, 2021. All applicants for residential projects are advised to consult with Planning Division staff on the filing of a Development Allotment application.
